Your Health Information and Your Right to Privacy

Link Health and Community respects your right to privacy and we have systems and processes in place to ensure that we comply with the Australian Privacy Principles. Below is a summary of Link Health and Community's Privacy Policy and other policies that deal with management of health information, publications and marketing; and complaints.

Link Health and Community collects information about you for the purpose of providing health services to you. Information of a private and personal nature such as your name and address is also used for this purpose. We may collect information about you from third parties providing the collection of that information is necessary to provide you with health care. We may send or receive information about your health from other health care professionals, whenever this information is needed to provide you with the best possible care.

Your medical history, records of treatment, x-rays and any other information about your care are stored in a secure electronic record. Link Health and Community's Health Records Policy and Procedures set out how we maintain your health record with regard to security, privacy and confidentiality. Link Health and Community's Management of Health Information Policy sets out how we manage your health information and how you can access this information or seek correction of this information. Our Consumer Feedback and Complaints Policy sets out how you may make a complaint about a breach of privacy and how Link Health and Community will deal with such a complaint.

We may use parts of your health information for research or learning purposes; however, your personal identity will not be disclosed without your consent. Link Health and Community Media and Publications Policy sets out the process for using consumer stories in Link Health and Community's publications.

If you choose not to provide us with information relevant to your care, this may lead to outcomes you don't expect. We may not be able to provide a service to you, or the service we are asked to provide may not be the best for your needs. More importantly, you could suffer some harm. It is also important that we fully understand the information you provide to us, so if you speak another language please ask for an interpreter in your preferred language whenever you visit us.

Link Health and Community's Privacy Officer can be contacted on 1300 552 509 during business hours if you have any concerns or questions about a privacy matter, or would like to make a complaint about a breach of your privacy.
